Where a clip should begin, and where it must stop.

Fifty episodes of one microdrama, every line scored for shock and suspense, then cut into the thirty ad clips most likely to stop a stranger from scrolling.

SPECIMEN · ONE CLIP, MAGNIFIED

EP 3 01:24.00–01:38.50 + EP 3 02:13.20–02:25.75

0–3 S · GRAB ATTENTION
a shock before the thumb moves

BUILD
27 seconds, straight from the show

STOP
on a question, not an answer

WITHHELD
what they install to see

8/10

of the top ten clips pass all three tests: hook, cliffhanger, makes sense alone

40/40

clips stay within 20–60 seconds
and never cut a line of dialogue in half

3.5 s

to read all fifty episodes
and score 1,379 possible cuts